DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-19, drawn to an amino acid composition and a device containing such a composition, classified in class 514, subclass 4.
  - II. Claims 20-23, drawn to a method of treating blood by withdrawing, filtering, and returning to patient, classified in class 604, subclass 5.01.
  - III. Claims 24-26, drawn to a method of preparing an amino acid composition, classified in class 564, subclass 497.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions in Group I and Group II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the endotoxin removal may be performed with any number of adsorbent beds or particulate filters, and the amino acid oligopeptide composition can be used in a different setting to facilitate protein synthesis.
3. Inventions in Group I and Group III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the process may be used to create a set of peptides that are not designed to be used as adsorbent particles, and the product may be made by simply combining amino acids in the correct sequences to produce the desired peptide chains.

4. Inventions in Group II and Group III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions involve the process of using the peptide composition and the process of making the peptide composition. The processes are practiced as different operations (blood treatment versus pH adjustment), and have different functions and effects (removing toxins from blood versus creation of a peptide chain).

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
